

Ginevra Bruzzone

Ginevra Bruzzone is Senior Fellow at the LUISS School of European Political Economy (SEP), where she teaches EU Internal Market and Competition Policy. Ginevra is also Deputy Director General of Assonime, a private think tank in Rome where she is in charge of EU and Italian competition law, consumer protection, IP law, regulation and the digital agenda. She is member of the Advisory Committee of 4iPCouncil and until 2019 co-chaired with Professor Chris Nash the Advisory Board of the Italian Transport Regulation Authority. From 1991 to 2000 she worked as a senior economist for the Italian Competition Authority.

Ginevra has published extensively on competition policy, State aid, the Digital Single Market, IP policy, as well as on the legal framework for state-owned enterprises.